

Painting Bark and Lichens in Gouache

with Lucy Martin

Saturday, August 11, 10am - 3 pm

Laguna Environmental Center, 900 Sanford Road, Santa Rosa Ca 95401

Cost: $95. Pre-registration required: visit www.lagunafoundation.org

If you've seen my current Heron Hall show, at the Laguna Environmental Center, "Microcosms: A Closer Look at Lichens and Fungi", you know my artwork is all about close observation. There is a wealth of wonderful lichen around us in Sonoma County, and it opens up a whole new world when we paint it. Gouache (similar to watercolor, but more opaque) allows us to create fine detail, as well as brilliant color and a sense of depth and density. This workshop is open to adults and teens 14 and up. Some drawing experience is helpful. A supply list will be sent upon registration. Questions? email Lucy Martin: lucy@lucymartinart.com.
